CHAPTER - 2

2 Faculties of The University

The university is imparting education for various courses through its following 17 Faculties:

2.1 Faculty of Agricultural Sciences

Realizing the need for well-trained agricultural graduates and postgraduates for public and private sectors and also for more and more demand for agricultural produce and processed products, it was envisaged to start the Faculty of Agriculture at SGT University, which was started in the academic session 2016-17. To meet the increasing demands from continuously decreasing arable land, innovative technologies and technical know-how in the fields of agriculture and allied areas remain the only solution to the most important issues. To achieve the desired results, the need of the hour is to train agricultural graduates and postgraduates with the latest knowledge along with innovative and modern research experience in agricultural and allied fields. The innovatively generated modern technologies applied to the farmers' field will help in achieving the desired goals. Initially graduation program i.e. B.Sc. (Hons.) Agriculture was started with an intake capacity of 90 seats. The course curricula were designed to produce competent graduates capable of competing at national and international levels.

The Faculty also initiated Master of Science in Agriculture (M.Sc. Agriculture) in two disciplines, viz. Horticulture-Fruit Science and Agronomy from the academic session 2019-20. The syllabi and curricula are as per the ICAR requirement, as well as the market demands. The courses taught in the degree equip the graduates to find career opportunities in educational, research, and management fields in the public and private sectors. They can develop as entrepreneurs in agribusiness activities.

The Faculty of Agricultural Sciences (FASC) comprises meritorious and competent teachers from reputed institutes, adopting the latest teaching methodologies to groom students. Updated knowledge is imparted to the students. Students are involved in practical programs in the field right from the sowing of seeds to the harvest and in laborites for a different analytical part. The emphasis is on using hands-on training in teaching to transform the students into industry-oriented on completion of their degree. In the last year of the undergraduate degree, the students are offered a set of courses under the Module System, taking them to specialization in different fields of their interest.

Along with teaching, emphasis is also laid on research activities. During this period, many research projects have been handled by the faculty members. A crop cafeteria, including several vegetable and field crops, has also been established for making the beginner students acquainted with various crops.

2.2 Faculty of Allied Health Sciences

The allied health Sciences has become a very sought-after field of education looking at the importance it has gained over the years resulting in a huge gap of such professionals. To cater to this demand to whatever extent possible, Shree Guru Gobind Singh Tricentenary University entered the field of paramedical education with the introduction of degree and diploma courses in subjects such as Medical Laboratory Technology, Operation Theatre Technology, Radio-Imaging Technology, and Optometric Technologies in 2013. The Faculty introduced specialized graduation courses in Neurophysiology Technology, Nutrition, Dietetics, and Sleep Science in 2014; M.Sc. in Radio Imaging Technology and Nutrition and Dietetics in 2015 to cope with the market need for specialized technical professionals. In progression to this B.Sc. in Microbiology and M.Sc. in Environmental Science were started in 2016, M.Sc. in Medical Laboratory Technology, Operation Theatre Technology, and a Master of Optometry in 2017.

A Paramedic is a professional who helps doctors in specialized areas and facilitates better diagnosis, treatment, and therapy. The increase in the number of patients, the variety of diseases, and the demand for immense treatment have paved the way for paramedical professionals who are expert technicians or therapists providing better quality human healthcare. Paramedics are key players in the Health & Medical Sector. Without paramedics, the entire health industry may become almost non-functional. The demand for laboratory technologists will always increase, as the number of multi-specialty hospitals, and laboratories are increasing.

The career of a lab worker depends on academic and technical skills. A certified medical laboratory technologist may find an ever-growing career in a hospital, minor emergency centers, private laboratories, blood banks, doctor's clinic pathology lab, and various clinical research centers. Technologists can advance to supervisory or management positions in labs and hospitals. They can also work as Laboratory managers, Health care administrators, laboratory information system analysts, Educational coordinators, etc. Additional opportunities are available in molecular diagnostics and molecular biotechnology. All the courses offered by the Faculty are approved by Govt. of Haryana. The University has tie-ups with many super speciality hospitals to groom the students with all the latest technologies and to provide them with wider exposure to the health industry. We offer a regular mode of teaching supplemented by intensive and rigorous practical training that equips the students with knowledge of the latest techniques and trends so that on completion they can emerge as fully trained and thorough professionals.

Aiming to provide higher education in the technical field and to enhance career opportunities, the Faculty of Allied Health Science is also offering Post-Doctorate courses in Radio-Imaging Technology, and Nutrition & Dietetics.
