The primary aim of the camp was to promote oral hygiene awareness and educate children and village residents about effective toothbrushing techniques, emphasizing the importance of preventive care in maintaining oral health. The camp included interactive demonstrations, dental check-ups, and distribution of oral hygiene kits to encourage the practice of proper oral hygiene. A special session was conducted to demonstrate proper brushing techniques. Using visual aids, pamphlets (IEC materials) and models, dental professionals taught participants the importance of brushing twice a day, using the correct angle, and focusing on each section of the mouth for effective cleaning. Special focus was placed on brushing frequency, duration, and avoiding aggressive brushing. Patients requiring rigorous treatment were referred to the SGT hospital with the referral slip. The event was met with enthusiasm and appreciation from participants, particularly schoolchildren who enjoyed the interactive brushing session.
